IWS Theses in the Library Catalog

- IWS theses are available by searching the Library Catalog.
- You can search by author and/or title if known (IWS thesis lists are available on the library website).
- You can also search by subject. To narrow the results of a subject search to IWS theses, simply add "Institute for Worship Studies" to your search.

Locations of Theses in the IWS Library

- Most IWS theses are available in print and electronic format.

Item type	Shelving location	Collection code	Full call number	Availability

Using Populi Library to Find Theses

- Full-text IWS theses are also available by searching directly in Populi Library.
- Login to Populi with your IWS username and password
- Click on the “Library” link on the top menu bar

Search for a Thesis

- Search for a thesis by title, author, or subject using the search box

The screenshot displays the library's website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Files, Email, Calendar, and Library. Below this is a red header with the library's name and logo. A secondary navigation bar contains links for Catalog, Calendar, Links, My Profile, Patrons, Circulation, and Pull List. A search bar is prominently featured, with the text 'Frankland' entered. The search bar includes dropdown menus for 'All Resource Types' and 'by Author', and a checkbox for 'Exact matches'. Below the search bar, there is a link to 'Read about advanced search options'. A search result is displayed below the search bar, featuring a placeholder image for the book cover and the title: 'A strategy for leaders who plan worship for new church plants in the Christian Church, non-denominational : to be taught to students at Lincoln Christian Seminary'. The author is listed as 'Book · Frankland, Dinelle.' and there is a green dot indicating 'Available online'. A large yellow arrow points to the title of the search result.

- Then, click on the title to look at the full record

Retrieve the Thesis File

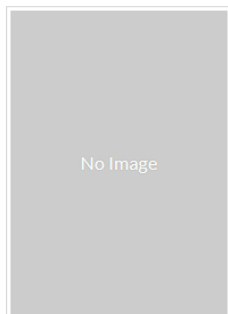

- From the full record, click on the .pdf link to download the thesis file
