

ROBERT E. WEBBER INSTITUTE FOR WORSHIP STUDIES

Using TREN: the Theological Research Exchange Network

Jennifer Nicholson

jennifer.nicholson@iws.edu

TREN.com

The Theological Research Exchange Network (TREN) is an index of over 25,400 theological thesis/dissertation titles, as well as conference papers, representing research from as many as 150 different institutions.

Access TREN at <https://www.tren.com/>

OR

Go to <https://iws.edu/> > Resources > Library > IWS Theses.
Scroll down to the bottom of the page for the link to TREN.

TREN is an IWS subscription database, but you do not need to login to search TREN.

Searching TREN

- There is a very basic title/author search on the TREN home page:

Theological Research Exchange Network

Home Search & Order  What Others Say Bookstore Other Resources Contact Us

TREN.com

Search TREN for over 10,000 theological thesis/dissertation
titles

Title

Author

Advanced Search

S e a r c h

- Search results can be limited to institution through the Advanced Search option.
- TREN searches are more limited than most databases. For an extended explanation of how to search, see the TREN search instructions.

Searching TREN: Advanced Search

- The Advanced Search allows you to limit to institution. As an example, you can get a list of IWS dissertations by year.

Search For Theses/Dissertations:

Title (keyword in title): Author: exact phrase:

School:

Degree: Year Of Degree:

SEARCH

- The Advanced Search also enables a subject search.

Search By Subject:

Subject:

SEARCH

Searching TREN: eDocs

- On the TREN main page, click on eDocs.

Theological Research Exchange Network

- On the eDocs page, use the Search eDocs box for a basic keyword search.

- Click “more search options” for the advanced search.

Obtaining TREN Documents

TREN is a title index, but offers full-text documents for a fee.

- The IWS library subscribes to TREN and can supply a limited number of electronic documents free to IWS students, staff and faculty each year. To request a non-IWS electronic document from TREN, e-mail the title, author, and TREN order number to: library@iws.edu.
- Electronic copies of IWS theses are available free to IWS students, staff and faculty by searching the Library Catalog.
- Print documents in TREN are not part of the IWS subscription and must be purchased. You can ask the library to purchase a TREN print document for you to check out through the IWS library.

GET HELP

If you need further assistance with your research, e-mail:

library@iws.edu