

Library Orientation for New Students

June 2023

Jennifer Nicholson, Interim Librarian

jennifer.nicholson@iws.edu

Learning Objectives

New students will be able to:

- Find and use IWS Library resources online
- Get help using library resources
- Look for additional research resources
- Know about bibliography management tools
- Understand how to use library resources during and between the on-campus intensive sessions

Why do I need to know this?

Many IWS class assignments require doing research using scholarly resources available free through the library.

IWS Library Introductions

- Jennifer Nicholson, Interim Librarian, is an MWS alumna of IWS, and is a current graduate student at the University of South Florida in Library and Information Science. Contact Jennifer for research assistance and help using online library resources.
- Esther Dell, Library Consultant, assists the Interim Librarian and will be on-campus helping students this semester. She is an Associate Librarian at Penn State.
- Carol Hayes, Library Assistant, serves as the day-to-day face of the library, assisting students with access to print and digital IWS library resources. She will not be on-campus for June 2023.

Contact the IWS Library (staffed part-time)

Disability and the Way of Jesus : Holistic Healing in the Gospels and the Church

Authors:

Bethany McKinney Fox

Publication Information:

Downers Grove : IVP Academic. 2019

Resource Type:

eBook.

Description:

What does healing mean for people with disabilities? Bridging biblical studies, ethics, and disability studies with the work of practitioners, Bethany McKinney Fox examines healing narratives in their biblical and cultural contexts. This theologically grounded and winsomely practical resource helps us more fully understand what Jesus does as he heals and how he points the way for relationships with people with disabilities.

IWS Thesis Lists

On the IWS website, go to: Resources > Library > IWS Theses

A current listing of IWS theses is available in two forms:

-  IWS Thesis Collection (Chronological listing, 2022 update)
-  IWS Thesis Collection (Alphabetical listing by author, 2022 update)

IWS keeps on hand two copies of every thesis for each graduating Doctor of Worship Studies student. These bound volumes are available for use in the IWS library. Digital copies are available to IWS students, staff, faculty, and alumni through the library catalog. Instructions for accessing digital copies are available here. Alumni should contact the Library staff to obtain copies of theses if they have forgotten their login credentials.

Persons not affiliated with IWS can obtain copies of theses through the Theological Research Exchange Network.

This web page gives you a list of thesis authors, titles, and abstracts.
Print copies shelved in the library by author's last name do not check-out.

Between On-Site Intensive Sessions

- Between on-site intensive sessions, the library is open only by appointment. Contact library@iws.edu to arrange a visit.
- Use the library self-checkout sheet if you take books with you.
- Students who need research help during a library visit between on-site sessions must schedule an appointment with the library assistant.
- Request books to be mailed to you.
- Become familiar with other available Digital Resources.

International students

- You can come a few days before the on-site session or stay a few days after to use the library, but be sure to make an appointment first.
- Visit the library to take books with you before leaving campus.
We will not mail books outside the United States.
- The library does not assist with textbook purchases. Before the on-site session, you can purchase books online to be delivered to the IWS office (not the library) for you to pick up while you are in the U.S.

Students in the U.S. and Canada

IWS participates in two cooperative borrowing programs:

- ATLA Reciprocal Borrowing Program. This agreement enables IWS students, staff, and faculty to check out materials on site at over 125 participating libraries in the U.S. and Canada.
- ACL Reciprocal Borrowing Program. IWS students can check out materials at over 70 participating libraries in the U.S.

For more information, visit the IWS Library website or email library@iws.edu.

Two Types of Library Digital Resources

➤ Subscription resources are selected and paid for by the library. Users must login to have free access. Vendor restrictions apply to use.

- Atlas Databases
- eBooks on EBSCO
- TREN (Theological Research Exchange Network)

➤ Free (open access) resources do not require subscriptions. Libraries collect links to reliable and scholarly sites organized by topics of interest to their users.

RESOURCES > LIBRARY > ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

Evaluating Information Resources

- Scholarly vs Popular -- Scholarly resources are written by experts in the field and supported by research, while popular resources are written for general audiences and usually lack references to support assertions.
- Refereed (or peer-reviewed) -- Articles are reviewed for credibility and quality by authorities in the field of study before acceptance for publication.
- Websites -- The domain type may help indicate reliability and accuracy. For example,
 - .edu = academic institution with scholarly information
 - .gov = federal government site
 - .org = nonprofit, may include bias by advocacy groups
 - .com = commercial, may be biased to make sales
